Easter Sunday Worship

Sunday, March 23, 11:00 a.m.

Join us as we celebrate the resurrection of our Lord.

This Sunday is Easter Sunday! We have so many things to be thankful for as well as many things to look forward to. This is the inaugural Sunday of our new Rogers organ. It is being installed and will be played Sunday by Linda Hanson, a classically trained organist as well as a friend, before and during our service. The choir will be processing to the organ and to the extraordinary John D'Earth trumpet ensemble in their beautiful new choir robes. We hope you are able to join us for this memorable day!

Received to Date	$ 65,987.01

It's a little hard to believe that Easter is coming this early this year. In 1913 Easter was also on March 23. By my read, that was the last time that Easter was this early in the year. I have a table that projects the date of Easter until 2089 and until that date at least, Easter will not be as early as this year. So, I suppose it has surprised us a bit. But by the time you receive this, you still have a few days to get spiritually ready. I hope you will use some of that time to be a part of Maundy Thursday and/or Good Friday services. Of all the occasions for worship during the year, these are often the most spiritually significant and meaningful.

You also have a few days to consider inviting someone to join you for worship for Easter. One recent study showed that most people come to church (and more importantly, to the Lord) through the invitation of a friend or family member. The study also revealed that 82% of people who do not go to church say they would go if invited by a friend. So someone you know may only be separated from a worship experience and an introduction to new life in Christ by your invitation. What an opportunity you have to affect the destiny both in this life and the next of someone you already know and love. May God use you this week! See you soon for Holy Week services.

BUILDING FUND

* Gift was given in honor of Lola Knight's 99th Birthday by Virginia Leake.

Request from Landscape & Grounds Committee

It's that time of year again when the grass is turning green and beginning to grow, that we start thinking about the mowing needs of the church.

We are looking for volunteers who are willing to help with mowing the church yard. If you are interested please contact Dan Rinald at 974-1874 or dantrish@comcast.net.
